World Wide Fund for Nature- India

(WWF-India)

At a time when the Web of Life has come under increasing threats, WWF-India's attempts have been to find and implement solutions so that human beings can live in harmony with nature, and leave for future generations a world rich in natural resources and natural wonders.

WWF-India is one of the largest conservation organisations engaged in wildlife and nature conservation in the country. Established as a Charitable Trust on November 27, 1969, it has an experience of over five decades now in the field. From a modest beginning, the organisation has been propelled forward by the efforts of its founders and associates who volunteered their time and energy to lend momentum to the conservation movement.

Today, it is recognised as a premier international conservation non-governmental organisation in the country dealing with nature conservation, environmental protection and development-related issues.

To suit India's specific ecological and socio-cultural situation, WWF-India articulated its mission in 1987 as follows:

“The promotion of nature conservation and environmental protection as the foundation for sustainable and equitable development.”

CENTRE FOR ENVIRONMENTAL LAW

The Centre for Environmental Law (CEL) was established in 1993 as an integral part of WWF-India. Apart from handling and furthering WWF-India's conservation work involving policy analysis, campaigning and legal interventions on environmental issues, CEL serves as a resource centre for teaching environmental law and research in national, regional and international contexts.

To implement its programmes, CEL is building functional and professional linkages with government agencies and non-governmental organisations at national and global levels.

One of the principal educational activities of CEL began in 1993 with its flagship Diploma Programme in Environmental Law, which was mainstreamed in 2003 to the Post Graduate Diploma in Environmental Law. More than fifteen hundred participants have benefited from the three-decade-long efforts of the CEL Team at WWF India.

NATIONAL LAW UNIVERSITY, DELHI (NLUD)

National Law University, Delhi is a premier Law University established in 2008 by the Delhi Government at the initiative of the Delhi High Court. It has state-of-the-art infrastructure and facilities for learning and research.

The vision of NLUD is to make legal education an instrument of social, political and economic change. It is committed to transforming students into lawyers who are professionally competent, technically sound and socially aware.

NLUD has been offering a five-year Integrated B.A. LL.B (Hon.) Programme since 2008 and LL.M. and Ph.D. programmes since 2011. It offered its first Diploma programme on Judging and Court Management in 2010 with the objective of training and skill-building of the young legal professionals in the art and craft of judging and court management.

The University also offers several other innovative and specialised diploma programmes only in online mode. These include Patent Law, Competition Law and Policy, Real Estate Law, Labour Rights, Women's Studies and Vocational Diploma for Paralegals.

POST GRADUATE DIPLOMA

In

URBAN ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT AND LAW

The Post Graduate Diploma in Urban Environmental Management and Law (PGDUEML) is a specialised course that focuses on strengthening the delivery capacity of urban administrators and environment professionals. PGDUEML is designed to provide in-depth knowledge and understanding of existing urban laws, bylaws and policies.

The course seeks to equip its participants to tackle the loopholes in the present institutional mechanisms for managing urban matters, to propose innovative changes as are necessary in existing laws to find convergence with urban environmental management practices; as well as to effectively implement existing urban laws/policies by blending them with fast changing needs and expectations of a dynamic urban society. Moving forward, it is going to be increasingly tougher to look at urban planning and the environment in isolation; local legislations like building bylaws are already moving towards incorporating environmental clearances and conditions within them, and these lines will likely be further blurred in the future.

It aims to strengthen the human resource pool by creating efficient urban managers.

PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES

The main objectives of the programme are:

- Provide background knowledge as well as practical tools for addressing crucial urban problems at both policy and implementation levels.
- Enable the participants to propose changes as are necessary in laws to find convergence with urban environmental management practices.
- Present and discuss urban management in the broader perspective of environmental governance and sustainable development issues.
- Train the urban professionals to optimally utilise financial and technical resources or materials, ensuring good governance locally, regionally and nationally.

TARGET GROUP

The programme would be useful for personnel of local/state level urban development authorities, urban planners/managers, local level policymakers, professionals from ministries, private sector employees, the academia and civil society organisations. The PG Diploma programme provides the participants a platform to explore the key aspects of urban management and would provide them with exposure to the best practices in urban governance, particularly in light of environmental conservation.

ELIGIBILITY

- Graduation in any stream.
- Work experience, although not necessary, but a minimum of two years in the relevant field is desirable.
- Admission will be granted strictly on merit and at the discretion of Admissions Committee.

In some cases, the Applicant may be required to appear for a telephonic interview.

DURATION AND PEDAGOGY

- Post Graduate Diploma in Urban Environmental Management and Law and Policy is a one-year programme.
- The diploma is offered in English and is the only medium of instruction.
- All aspects such as course content, timelines, course curriculum, examinations and discussion forums will be conducted in the online mode.
- There are no online or Physical classes conducted in the PGDU EML Course.
- Webinars and online discussion will be organized during course duration.

MODE OF STUDY

- Mode of instruction will be ONLINE only.
- For undertaking online mode study, participants need internet access.
- All course requirements like discussion forums and exam papers will be posted online. Participants will be provided with soft copy study/reading material.

COURSE CURRICULUM

The PGDUEML programme comprises 32 Credits or 500 Marks.

It shall consist of 5 courses, including four theory-based courses and one Practical Training course. Courses 1 and 4 will be of 6 credits each, while Courses 2 and 3 will be of 8 credits each. The Practical Training course shall carry 4 credits. All the courses are compulsory.

The Course Manual contains an introduction to each unit in the individual Courses of the Programme and has a comprehensive compilation of a list of books, journals, media articles and key judicial pronouncements which should be referred to by the participants. It is dynamic in nature as it is a compilation of suggested readings of the recent developments related to the course.

The Course Manual will be shared with the participants online.

EVALUATION PROCESS

The PGD programme follows a two-semester format, comprising four theory courses and one practical course (Term–End Paper). Evaluation is continuous and multi-modal, intended to holistically assess both conceptual understanding and applied skills.

Discussion Forums

Discussion Forums are conducted online, over the span of certain days, where the participating cohort members exchange ideas over a given topic of contemporary relevance. These forums are designed to facilitate peer learning, encourage critical engagement with legal developments, and apply course content to contemporary issues. Active participation in moderated online discussion forums is mandatory. Evaluation is based on originality, clarity, and relevance of contributions.

Take- Home Examinations

At the end of each theory course, an open-book, online examination must be submitted. Examinations may include both objective and subjective components, testing conceptual grasp, analytical thinking, and practical application. All exam guidelines will be issued two weeks in advance. Submission of each examination is a prerequisite for progressing to the next course.

No re-sit, extension, or alternative paper will be provided.

Practical Course V (Term-End Paper)

Apart from the online examinations, participants are required to work on a topic of their choice. Participants must submit a topic for the Term-end Paper, followed by a first draft of the Term-end Paper.
